

LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

Bridge East Capital LLC is the organizer of the International Conference Wolves Summit, which brings together technology startups, investors and representatives of corporations from around the world. It's a place for startups, investors and corporations where innovation meets business and capital. Unlike traditional business conferences, Wolves Summit uses precise matchmaking tools to allow 1:1 meetings, only with people who meet their needs and requirements. The events are also accompanied by numerous lectures and speeches conducted by, among others, experienced TEDx conference speakers.

Organizing an international conference is a huge challenge, so we expected from our business partner not only knowledge and experience, but - above all - commitment and openness to new challenges. The team has always been at our disposal in case of questions and problems, showing initiative to help. They have also been providing us with support during the preparation of proposals for external institutions. JWW shall keep in regular contact with the authorities, while keeping all declarations submitted on time.

The first business contacts were established back in 2019. Thanks to the support we receive from JWW, we can focus on running our business, because we know that our finances remain in the hands of professionals.

Wolves Summit

Martin Rigg

Michael Chaffee